

Letter of Recommendation

for Dávid Horov

I know Dávid as my Master student working on his Master thesis "Public data and new applications about smart cities". Dávid was very creative while working on the thesis and was able to work actively and independently. He was able to approach various people on his own and work on the thesis based on discussion and data input from them. The result of his work is an application running on the official website of the Brno city.

Dávid was working on his thesis continuously and was able to deliver results on time. He is a communicative person with good presentation skills. Given the quality of the developed application and high quality of the thesis text, I nominated him for the Dean's award, which he successfully got.

Given all of that, I am happy to recommend Dávid for getting a new job.
