Subject: Reference Letter – Dávid Horov

To Whom It May Concern

As a project manager I was managing David in couple of web development tasks. We have met at freelancing platform Upwork.com. After the first task me and my clients were satisfied with the work done by David, so we decided to continue with our collaboration. Given tasks were always delivered on time with the focus on details.

Mostly David was delivering web components based on the needs of our clients and he also transferred couple of email templates (newsletters, promotions, season sales) from PSD into responsive email templates. For me it was always hard to find a responsible developer who can work precisely and remotely. During the development David used mostly Vue.js and SAAS with HTML. For the communication we used Slack and Git was used for code versioning.

To sum up his work I can say that communication with me and my clients and web development itself was always done perfectly. I am looking forward potential collaboration in the future.

Sincerely,

Houssam All
